Eisenhower Has Heart Attack, Doctors Report

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Doctors said today that the attack of chest pain that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered Wednesday was a definite heart attack.

The announcement was made at a routine 11 a.m. EST news briefing by Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, Fort Gordon, Ga., public information officer.

The five-star general suffered his first seizure of heart pain Tuesday morning. He seemed to be making a good recovery from the attack when the pain returned more severely Wednesday.

Hitchcock said Eisenhower has experienced "no further pain" since the second of two chest pain attacks since he was hospitalized at Fort Gordon.

He said Eisenhower is "in excellent spirits" and "enjoyed his breakfast this morning."

Eisenhower is receiving intermittent oxygen and his blood pressure and circulation are stabilized, Hitchcock said.

"Further electrocardiograms and blood studies since the second episode (on Wednesday) reveal that Gen. Eisenhower has had a definite heart attack," Hitchcock said.

It was presumed that doctors considered the second attack the full scale heart seizure, but the bulletin was not entirely clear on this point.

"It is thought that previous episodes of coronary insufficiency have progressed to myocardial infarction," Hitchcock said.

He said that "as previously stated" this progressive condition was expected.

He said that Eisenhower is being given standard anticoagulants and regular tests to determine the progression of his attack.

Market Foils Cart Stealers

DETROIT (UPI) — A tall, heavy-set man walked away from an east side market pushing a cart loaded with two bags of groceries when his cart suddenly became immobile close to the edge of the market's parking lot.

He kicked it, shoved it and cursed loudly and frequently. He was one of hundreds of shoppers that cost Detroit area markets nearly a half-million dollars in stolen carts.

But the man was persistent. He went back into the store, took another cart returned to his first vehicle and loaded the groceries into the second cart. He got no further than one stride when his reserve cart was rendered immobile.

This time he swore first, then shoved and kicked. His kicking became more ferocious as a store employee approached.

The man was led away groggy with bags in hand and sore-fisted.

Store officials explained they had installed a new cart invented by a suburban Oak Park industrial designer, Irving Stollman. The cart is equipped with a special magnetic front wheel which connects with magnets placed below the ground in strategic slots surrounding the market.

Soviets Launch Space Station Toward Venus

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today launched an unmanned space station on a voyage toward Venus, a trip which America's Mariner 2 pioneered three years ago.

The Russian probe, named Venus 2, is at least the second Soviet attempt to gather information about the distant planet. Venus 1, launched in February, 1961, was a failure.

Cue Blow Fatal

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 22-year-old woman was charged Thursday with homicide in the death of a man who died after being struck with a cue stick.

Police said Shirley Thomas struck Bill Swanson, 22, on the head with a cue stick during an argument between Swanson and another woman in their rooming house.

Rebel Rhodesians Under Pressure

LONDON (UPI) — Britain today used every diplomatic and economic weapon at its command to bring the rebel Rhodesian regime to its knees. The British government was in the unique position of having support from both East and West in the independence crisis.

Widow Rips Up Protest Signs

FORT DEVENS, Mass. (UPI)—The attractive widow of an Army sergeant wrenched placards from seven demonstrators protesting U.S. involvement in Viet Nam Thursday. She ripped up the signs before she was subdued.

"I just couldn't stand it any more," said Mrs. Eva Romaskiewicz, 27, of Ayer, Mass. Her husband, Staff Sgt. Edmund Romaskiewicz, was killed in an auto accident in Germany last April.

Mrs. Romaskiewicz was standing across the street from the post with her three children — aged 7, 6, and 4 — watching some 50 Veterans Day demonstrators picket the main gate when she "saw red."

"I saw a woman carrying a sign that said 'no war in Viet Nam' in one hand and in the other hand she had an American flag," the German born woman said.

She handed her purse to the man next to her, asked him to watch her children, ran across the street and charged screaming into the picket line.

"At first I just wanted to get the American flag but when I got there I went blank. I think I thought about my husband dying and others dying so these people could live — these silly boys," she said.

There were believed to have been two other Soviet attempts to send payloads to Venus in 1961, but they also failed to get beyond an orbit around Earth.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said Venus 2 would pass the mysterious planet at the end of February next year. It reported the interplanetary space station was functioning normally.

Mariner 2 blazed the trail to the vicinity of Venus when it came within 22,000 miles of the planet on Dec. 14, 1962, and made three complete scans of the surface. Valuable information was received from Mariner by American space scientists.

Other Mariner shots since then have obtained closeup photographs of the Moon and Mars.

Tass' first report on Venus 2 said it was more than 34,000 miles from Earth.

Parliament was meeting for a full debate on the partial sanctions imposed by Britain against the regime of Rhodesian rebel Premier Ian Smith, which Thursday issued its Unilateral Declaration of Independence (UDI).

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and aides flew to New York for an emergency meeting of the United Nations Security Council on the crisis.

The meeting was scheduled to get under way at 10:30 a.m. EST.

The cabinet also was meeting under Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who announced a series of phased economic and financial sanctions against the white-ruled Rhodesian government. He said Rhodesia was in "treasonable rebellion" against the British government but ruled out any military intervention against the Salisbury regime.

Stewart was expected to argue in the U.N. against a resolution calling for massive action, including military force, against Rhodesia, whose 3.8 million black Africans outnumber whites 16 to 1.

The Rhodesian capital of Salisbury, population 314,000, remained calm. There were no demonstrations of any kind following Smith's bombshell announcement Thursday.

President Johnson was meeting with cabinet aides at the Texas White House on the situation. The United States has vowed to back Britain in imposing economic and diplomatic sanctions against Rhodesia, a first British colony to secede since the American Colonies did it in 1776.

The Soviet Union declared the Smith government was guilty of a "monstrous crime." Communist China went further, declaring the use of arms by Africans in Rhodesia against the white minority would be "correct."

Two inches of snow on the ground was reported at Dickinson, N.D. The weather bureau warned hunters, travelers and stockmen to prepare for snow accumulations of up to four inches and strong winds.

Montana reported winds up to 30 miles an hour Thursday night.

The southern half of the nation continues to bask in the mild temperatures although rain was reported on the Texas Gulf coast, Georgia and into New England.

Clouds covered the rest of the country with the exception of Florida and the southwest where skies were clear.

Thursday, fog shrouded an area from Wisconsin to east Texas and Georgia. Two cars collided in fog near Glenwood, Iowa, killing three women and a small boy.

Several American armored vehicles were hit by Viet Cong mortar and recoilless cannon fire, but the spokesman said over-all U.S. losses were "light."

The reinforced battalion from the 2nd Brigade of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division was deployed along the road early today when the Viet Cong boiled out of rubber plantations on either side of the highway.

Experts Trying To Pin Down Power Failure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal power investigators attempting to diagnose the power paralysis which seized the northeast examined various theories today, including one that it was caused by a "nervous breakdown" of an electronic brain.

The team of experts named by President Johnson to search out the cause of Tuesday's big blackout discounted the possibility that a mechanical breakdown of equipment triggered the chain reaction power failure.

Instead of a physical breakdown — such as a broken generator or a fallen transmission line — some sources suggested the entire northeastern power complex may have had a failure on its automated electronic system.

The investigators, headed by Federal Power Commission (FPC) Chairman Joseph C. Swidler, continued their inquiry today. They held a long session Thursday, working late into the night. The federal power and legal experts were gathering their information for testing theories through questioning of top officials from 23 private and public power suppliers from the Eastern United States and Canada.

The investigation was shrouded in secrecy. Swidler supplied only the barest details of the close door sessions. He was expected to file a preliminary report to Johnson on the blackout, possibly this weekend.

"There's no easy answer to this," Swidler said. "We're just plowing ahead."

Utility industry sources said the investigators were trying to nail down why power suddenly surged toward Canada seconds before the massive breakdown started at 5:16 p.m. EST Tuesday.

McNamara said the President would ask Congress to provide more money for defense to be spent before next July. The additional funds will be needed despite $1.7 billion it allocated earlier for military spending, he said.

More U.S. Troops Going To Viet Nam

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson has decided to send more American troops to fight in South Viet Nam to counter a build-up in Communist guerrilla and regular forces.

Johnson authorized the Pentagon to provide all the men that U.S. military commanders request to bolster the 160,000 Americans already in the war zone.

He also disclosed he will ask Congress in January to provide more money immediately to pay for the increased defense costs.

The President acted late Thursday after a conference at his Texas ranch home with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other top advisers.

McNamara said the President would ask Congress to provide more money for defense to be spent before next July. The additional funds will be needed despite $1.7 billion it allocated earlier for military spending, he said.

Fifty Survive Fiery Plunge Of Boeing 727

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A United Air Lines jetliner carrying 90 persons burst into flames Thursday night as it touched down at Salt Lake Municipal Airport. Forty died in the flaming wreckage.

The 50 survivors, many of them injured, broke windows, smashed open emergency doors or sat stunned in the inferno waiting for rescuers to rip into the plane with axes and torches. At least four were trapped in a rear section for a half hour after the crash.

Eve Of Hunt; Talk's Of Fish

Delta County Sportsmen Club meeting Thursday night at their clubhouse on the eve of the deer hunt, talked about hunt prospects informally before and after their program, but devoted their program to review of its Project Rainbows.

The club made the final payment on its $527 bill at the Soo Hill Trout Hatchery on the 70,000 rainbows it planted in the Days and Bark Rivers in a series of plantings this year.

Recent checks on the streams show that the trout are increasing in size, said Harold Meiers, Jr. He showed a colored, sound movie of the project, which aims to re-establish rainbow trout in local streams.

It will take two years to re-establish spawning runs of the rainbows in the streams, if the project is successful.

The club ordered Michigan Out-of-Doors magazine, published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, sent to local school libraries next year. The club is affiliated with MUCC.

Liquor Control Leader Cool On Bar Teen Bans

Rep. Edward A. Michalski, Detroit, chairman of the House Liquor Control Committee of the Michigan Legislature, said in Escanaba Thursday that "I don't think you are going in the right direction" in Escanaba's new city ordinance barring persons under 21 from bars unless accompanied by parents or guardians.

Michalski, in Escanaba as a luncheon guest of the Michigan Beer & Wine Wholesaling Association at the House of Ludington, was enroute to Ironwood for a public meeting there today on liquor control.

The Ironwood meeting is one of a series in the state and Michalski asked that any Upper Peninsula persons, and especially the ministry, who wish to discuss liquor control with the committee do so at a meeting at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Nov. 16 at the Dickinson County Building, Iron Mountain.

Control Is Problem
"From all that we've heard at our public meetings," said Michalski, "we should not cut down on the age of persons attending bars. Our witnesses have said that it is the advertising of liquor as an inducement to teen drinking and illegal sale to minors that they are most concerned about.

"It is not control of drinking places where the operator is licensed to sell that presents the great problems. Will a licensee jeopardize an investment of $20,000 to $40,000 for a 25 or 30 cents sale to a minor?"

"Advertising of the sort that leads young persons to drink causes concern. We have curbs on this in Michigan, but some ministers think there is need for more control. The Liquor Control Commission has ruled with the opposition (to the liquor industry) on this and advertising is not too enticing to minors. Teenagers watching a baseball game on TV are told that it's refreshing to drink beer but the glass is never touched to the lips and there is no advertising of hard liquor on television.

Label Warning
"We have had it suggested that liquor should be labeled like the health warning danger proposed for cigarettes packages. The label, suggest some ministers, should say 'Not for consumption by minors.'"

"I personally doubt that barring youngsters from bars is a solution to the drinking youth problem. I could cite the House of Ludington, as an example. It is one of the most respected places in Escanaba and one of the most controlled, and yet the ordinance would make it illegal to hire an 18-year-old in the kitchen because liquor is sold on the premises.

"Whenever we try to bar a person from doing anything—a teenager or an adult—they want to do it. Capt. Donald Sloan of the Port Huron Police Department told our committee that he thinks that if the drinking age is dropped from 21 to 18 it may help because the novelty of doing something illegal will be eliminated.

Can't Enact Morals
"The captain feels that the curiosity would be gone and his records show that most youngsters who violated the

"A man may drink as much as he likes at home and then drive out onto the highway with no restraint, but not in a good bar. More drinking control is what we need; not total abstinence, but total control.

"Local enforcement is the problem. We have the laws on the books if we want to enforce them. A woman testified at Bay City Wednesday that a family was giving intoxicating beverages to her children and she wanted us to do something about it. She can't do anything she said, because she doesn't want to offend anyone. She wants someone to come in from outside and do something about it.

"We have a moral obligation as citizens to see that the law is enforced. Why wait for someone from Lansing to do something when the law already gives the authority for local action?"

More than 6,000 lives have been lost to earthquakes since 1900.

PANAX

America's Newest Communication Firm!

WHAT IS PANAX? PANAX Corporation is the former Mid-States Broadcasting Corporation. We decided to take on a new name because our former name started to become misleading. In the first place, PANAX is no longer a totally broadcasting-oriented firm. We have moved into the field of printed communications, too.

And in the second place, our plans call for expansion beyond what is commonly called the mid-states area. So Mid-States Broadcasting Corporation has become PANAX Corporation.

WHERE IS PANAX? PANAX currently extends into two states; Michigan and Missouri. The PANAX corporate headquarters are in Williamston Township, Michigan. The PANAX AM, FM and television stations extend from St. Joseph and Jefferson City in Missouri to Midland, Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, and East Lansing. The two newspapers owned by PANAX are located in Alma and Mt. Pleasant, Michigan.

WHEN IS PANAX? PANAX really had its beginning over six years ago, back in 1959. That's when a young man named John P. McGoff decided to put his beliefs into action. John McGoff and several of his friends and associates believed that the field of communications holds the key to many aspects of American life today. They believed that communications had a responsibility to the public, and that much of communications was not totally meeting that responsibility.

Today's PANAX Corporation began with one FM radio station in East Lansing. John McGoff left his position on the staff at Michigan State University, and with a handful of his friends, put station WSWM-FM on the air. That was six years ago. Today, PANAX embraces four FM stations, four AM stations, one television station, and two newspapers. Tomorrow, PANAX will be even more thoroughly involved in communications.

WHO IS PANAX? PANAX Corporation is people—nearly four hundred strong. PANAX is people like John McGoff who believe that the field of communications—both broadcast and printed—has a responsibility that goes beyond merely the profit motive. PANAX is people who care about their profession... but also care about their community, their state, and their nation. PANAX is people who believe in individual responsibility as well as individual rights... in government as a servant of the people rather than master of the people. PANAX is people who are concerned that the communications media should do more than entertain, or sell merchandise, or report news; to do these things—even to do them well—stops short of the awesome power that rests in the hands of those who control our communications media. PANAX is people who believe the communications media must shoulder its responsibilities of cultural development, of community leadership, of interpretation of current events, of opinion leadership.

WHY IS PANAX? PANAX Corporation is in existence not just to make money, or wield influence, or fondle power. PANAX recognizes that people can know only what the media of communications permit them to know, through the inevitable exercise of selection; and the exercise of selection has become rather limited from a program and an editorial content standpoint. In a sense, the existence and the aims of PANAX are indictments of much of the communications field. PANAX knows, as did Socrates, the philosopher and Herr Joseph Goebbels, Adolph Hitler's evil Propaganda Minister, that people are inclined to act on the basis of their beliefs, rather than on the facts. And we at PANAX also know that people can act only on the basis of what they are permitted to know by those who control the communications media.

To meet the goals and aims we have set for ourselves, the PANAX pledge is one of leadership in communications:

- ... Leadership in cultural development.
- ... Leadership in community responsibility and concern.
- ... Leadership in objective news reporting.
- ... Leadership in interpreting the news.
- ... Leadership in urging people to think for themselves.
- ... Leadership in expressing our own opinions (opinions which will be based on fact and reason).
- ... Leadership in provoking individual self-development in personal affairs, in public affairs, in cultural affairs.

The Newest Deal

The issues which we will be hearing about in next year's election campaigns have been developed in substantial part by the record activity of Congress.

The Congress has been likened to that which broke so much new ground in the first administration of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, but actually there is not very much new in the Lyndon Johnson Great Society program so far. Mostly it is a revival and an extension of welfare and government management programs tried by earlier administrations.

A great deal has been said about Medicare, but the program of medical care of the elderly that has been provided leaves them still distant from socialized medicine or a government-supplied medical service for everyone.

Federal aid to education is a concept almost as old as the country, but in the proportions of the new legislation it is probably the Johnson Administration's most significant achievement, a breakthrough to a new program of school-and-government relationship. It provides direct aid to primary and secondary schools, skirts the church-state issue and enforces equality of races in education, which is a major and historic accomplishment which will certainly be written large in the history books.

Some of the changed attitudes of the nation apparent in the Great Society are probably as significant as the major legislative achievements. There has, for instance, been more acceptance of the propriety of welfare and public improvement programs financed by taxes as an accompaniment of a high level of economic activity, with high wages and high profits.

Public works and welfare activities were once thought proper for pump priming only in periods of economic slump, but they've been grooved in now as decorations for the heavily frosted cake. Do-goodism is for boom as well as bust.

The government and private sectors of the economy are brought into easier balance with this development and there is not as much business protest against "socialism" as in the past.

The tax reduction, deficit spending and welfare activities are retraced, packaged up into a big, expensive bundle and the judgment is not in on them yet, because it will take some years to evaluate them and decide whether they were worth the billions this time around.

The American people have not had the bill for all of the Johnson Administration and Congress' collaboration yet. When it is in there will be a new look at the achievements in light of the cost. Then the voter will decide whether the programs have been run well enough to earn his respect and his conviction that they're a benefit to him and to the nation and that it can afford them.

Dodging Not Easy

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

If way-out groups should succeed in getting large numbers of young men to falsely pose as conscientious objectors, they're going to be in for a surprise.

The local draft boards require a battery of evidence.

The burden of proof is on the conscientious objector, not the government. As Selective Service men say, a man can't just sit back and avoid service by simply saying he is a conscientious objector and "daring the government to prove it" (they does not have such a belief).

To start with, there's a standard questionnaire for conscientious objectors. Some of its questions:

"Do you believe in a Supreme Being?"

"Describe the nature of your belief which is the basis of your claim made . . . above, and state whether or not you . . ."

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 YEARS AGO

Christianity still remains the one hope in bringing peace to a war-torn world. The Rev. James G. Ward of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, told members of the Escanaba Lions Club and their guests at an Armistice Day meeting.

Mrs. Julia Peterman of Sault Ste. Marie has taken over the management of the Marian Desilets Beauty Shop at 1023 S. 6th Ave., and has established her residence in Escanaba. Mrs. Peterman, a graduate of the Bay City Beauty College, formerly was located in Newberry, St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie.

50 YEARS AGO

Indicative of the awakened interest in horse racing already developed in this city through the prospect of a fast track being completed for next season at the new Delta County fair grounds, is the training stable that has been opened here by Joseph Brannon, a driver and trainer of many years experience.

Mrs. King of this city left for Eben Junction where she will visit for a few days.

Two new electric signs were erected by Ludington St. firms. A flasher, carrying an illuminated clock at the summit and the word "Jeweler" below, was erected in front of H. M. Abenstein's new jewelry store at 914 Ludington St.

Smits In Alger County

Nostalgic Visit To U.P. Shows Beauty Returned

By LEE SMITS

There is a saying that you can't ever go home, meaning that you can't relive the past by visiting old scenes. The attempt was made, however, accompanying Conservation Officer Bruce Andrews of Munising on a tour of his territory, heading out, by car, on the Adams Trail.

Bruce, an Upper Peninsula native, is the son of an old-time game warden. He has inherited memories that match my own of the valleys of the Fox and its branches, the Driggs, Marsh Creek, the Two Hearted, the Hurricane and Hidden lakes, named mostly for forgotten loggers. We recalled the names along the Alger-Smith right-of-way, the Black Grade, the White Rat, Black Paddy's.

What has happened between the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and Lake Superior in a lifetime? Well, for one thing the region is far more beautiful than it was for a quarter of a century after pine logging. Ground fires, brush fires, swamp fires swept uncontrolled over the cut-over country, year after year. Twenty miles out of Seney by lumber wagon to reach a deer camp or trout stream would be through a nightmare landscape of charred earth and stumps with the black poles of cull pine trees still towering above lifeless areas.

ALL THAT ugliness is gone. We drove for a hundred miles on winding roads through verdant second-growth. A lake like Nixons, where Gov. Fred Green had his Camp Kennedy, named for an Ypsilanti priest, bears no resemblance to the remembered lake of 40 years ago. Its shores barren. The whole big stretch of country is as beautiful as it was when the pine was standing; lacking the majesty of the pine, but verdant, alive, and much easier to get around in.

Bruce pointed to a place on the road where he had come upon a raven in the act of killing a mallard duck. The duck was a young one, almost full grown. Rescue had come in time. Bruce released the mallard in Worcester Lake, formerly one of Michigan's numerous Wolf lakes.

There are far more ravens now than in the old days. We agreed that possibly the ravens had multiplied because of an abundance of car-killed deer. Ravens are said to live 50 years or more, so the grandparents of the ravens we saw may have followed wolf packs to clean up the scraps as wolves raided the deer yards. Trappers could follow roving wolves by keeping an eye on ravens.

There had been rain the night before and we kept looking for fresh deer tracks on the sandy roads, and not seeing many. The cedar swamps are largely barren of available browse and hardwood saplings along the roads had been stripped of all edible tips, deer forage in general having been heavily depleted as the herd reached a peak some years ago.

We knew, of course, that not seeing many tracks along the roads was not a sure sign. We recalled a year when there had been an extra heavy fall of beech nuts and the deer were concentrated in stands of beech. Old-timers say that bears would journey, from west of Marquette, to congregate in beech country when nuts were plentiful. Ruffed grouse will forsake their usual haunts to gorge on beech nuts.

A friend of ours had been entertaining eight bears by putting out feed half a mile from his summer home in Alger County. There was a small, spunky female with a single cub; a big female with three cubs and two males, one a monster with a ragged ear. Guests could always see bears and much photographic film was exposed for them, their host insisting that bear watchers stay in cars.

By early fall, all the pampered bears had departed. Perhaps on some ridge miles away there is a by-passed section, covered with beech forest and perhaps by some mysterious means the bears learned of it.

The Doctor Says:

Tuberculosis Rate Rises

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstad

As soon as the prevalence of any communicable disease comes down we tend to become complacent about it. A case in point is tuberculosis, the number of new cases of which began to fall about 20 years ago in the last 2 or 3 years an alarming increase has been observed. Although traditionally the disease has been most prevalent where there has been poverty and overcrowding, victims are now appearing in all levels of society.

One reason for this is that the disease is often spread by domestic help or baby sitters. Although it requires long exposure to break down a healthy person's resistance to the tubercle bacillus, it is not true for babies or for persons who are classed as arrested cases.

One procedure that should be more widely used is tuberculin testing, especially of children. This should be done routinely at about 6 months and repeated once a year as long as the test is negative. A positive reaction indicates contact with the tubercle bacillus. If a young child has such a reaction all members of the household, including frequent visitors, should be examined to track down the source of the infection.

Early recognition and prompt treatment with modern drugs can bring about a cure if the treatment is continued until no trace of the disease remains. Many persons still make the mistake of discontinuing treatment when they begin to show improvement. Such persons spread the germs to others and are themselves in grave danger of a relapse.

The tubercle bacillus is a very patient germ. After an initial contact, following which the body builds up a resistance to it, it may lie dormant for many years and renew its attack when the body is weakened by malnutrition, fatigue or illness.

There has long been a vaccine (BCG vaccine) against this disease. It has been widely used in some countries but not in the United States because there has been some controversy about its effectiveness. Authorities now agree that it is harmless and that it is effective, but they recommend that it be used only for children living in areas where the prevalence of tuberculosis is high. This is because a healthy child can build up his own immunity if he is not exposed to an overwhelming dose of tubercle bacilli. Other persons whose work brings them in constant contact with these germs should also get BCG vaccine.

The Family Ann Landers Lawyer Why Wait Year To Wed Again?

COURTROOM MOVIES

The jurors were duly impressed when the attractive young plaintiff described the leg injuries she had suffered in an auto accident. She was so crippled, she said, that she was forced to wear low heeled shoes at all times.

In short order, the opposing attorney called for the courtroom to be darkened for a movie. Taken secretly, the movie neatly punctured the plaintiff's claim by showing her arriving at a party—wearing extra-high heels.

Courtroom movies have found their greatest use in deflating injury claims that are either false or exaggerated. However, they have also proved useful in establishing claims that are valid—for instance, by clarifying the conditions that led to an accident, or by demonstrating the effects of an injury.

In fact, movies are so revealing that, though offered by one side of a lawsuit, they may aid the other side even more.

For example, in disputing the claim of an injured boy, the defense showed movies of him playing baseball to demonstrate that he was still able to take part in sports. But the movies also showed, more poignantly than words, the handicaps he did suffer in chasing fly balls and running bases.

Of course, the law's concern is not which side is helped but whether justice is served. There is real danger in the very fact that movies are so persuasive, for they may influence a jury beyond fair limits.

With that danger in mind, the law insists on careful conformity to the rules of evidence. Authenticity and accuracy of the films must be proven. Relevancy to the issues must be established. The trial judge may at his discretion, rule out films that don't meet these tests.

In one case, a film of a stretch of highway was offered to show that the injured pedestrian should have been able to see the oncoming car. However, it turned out that the picture was made in the wintertime, when intervening trees were bare of foliage. Since the accident happened in the summertime, when the trees were in full bloom, the film was excluded by the judge.

With legal safeguards, movies have an important role to play in the courtroom. Like many other scientific developments, they open new paths in the law's search for truth.

Then nobody will be alone.

Dear Ann Landers: I didn't like your answer to "Crisis In Suburbia." A mother wanted to know if her sons were entitled to an increase in allowance because their father received a promotion and a pay raise. You said, "Yes — provided they take on extra chores and earn the increase."

I am a grandfather who is appalled at what is happening to the younger generation. I think it's disgraceful to pay children for doing what they SHOULD do. After all, they are a part of the family so they shouldn't ever pitch in. Paying children for every little thing makes me sick. I say kids should help around the house because they live in the house and eat and sleep there. That's reason enough — THREE SCORE AND TEN

Dear Three Score: Sorry, but the days are gone when you can give a kid a nickel and say, "Go have a good time." Children ought to have a little money to spend and to save.

Most kids today get an allowance for tying up the bathroom and hogging the telephone. I'm in favor of teaching children that there is some relationship between work and rewards. This can best be achieved by assigning specific chores and making it clear that the allowance is payment.

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send For Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FAMILY ROOM: Corner fireplace features well-located family room, which is off the terrace and separated from kitchen by useful room divider.

By ANDY LANG

The big problem of the architect asked to design a house of modest proportions is to provide all the amenities expected by modern families.

Where there are no restrictions on square footage or overall dimensions, the architect can proceed to incorporate all the features necessary for gracious living, concentrating on good design. But he faces a challenge when attempting to furnish "extras" to the owner of a house under 1500 square feet of living area.

Architect Lester Cohen has met that challenge successfully in the latest House of the Week, a three-bedroom ranch with two baths, two terraces, a fireplace, an outdoor barbecue, a family room, a laundry-mud room and plenty of storage and closet space—items that would do credit to a much larger house.

Cohen has accomplished his objective by utilizing all space effectively to enable some areas to perform double duty.

The 28' living-dining expanse at the front of the house has the advantage of two separate rooms, but they are placed in line so that, when a big gathering is planned, they work together as a spacious unit. The handy access to the kitchen saves steps for the hostess during the period of entertainment.

The family room and the kitchen employ the same principle of separate but unified sections, with the open breakfast bar acting as a divider. There is a corner fireplace in the family room, with glass doors leading to the rear terrace. The big stone chimney for the fireplace extends out to the terrace where there is a barbecue unit with a seat or buffet arrangement next to it. Architect Cohen suggests that one part of this terrace can be screened in, with an awning placed over the remainder.

The compact kitchen, with its convenient L-counters on two sides and appliances right

G-9 STATISTICS

Design G-9 has a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, three bedrooms, two baths and a center hall, with a habitable area of 1292 square feet. In addition, there is a laundry-mud room behind the two-car garage, with a covered terrace in the front and a terrace and barbecue in the rear. The over-all dimensions are 67' by 36' 10", plus a 1' 6" extension of the family room. The plans include a basement.

at hand, has a window over the sink and looking out on the terrace. Next to the kitchen is a laundry-mud room, with a pantry, rear door, two closets, an entrance to the garage and access to the basement.

To the left of the center hall are the three bedrooms and two bathrooms. The bathroom in the master bedroom has a dressing area. The baths, the hall and the closets are located to serve the additional function of a sound buffer between the bedroom wing and the living section of the house.

Indoor-outdoor family life is well taken care of by the previously-mentioned rear terrace and a second terrace at the front. The one at the front is large enough for the easy placement of a full set of outdoor furniture. It also serves to give the entire house a look of welcome, with its flagstone floor, corner planters and graceful lamp post. Adding to the warm atmosphere is the living room's bow window, which extends slightly into the terrace.

The two-car garage has room at its rear for a workbench, while a spacious, enclosed storage section behind the garage provides a place to store furni-

Mrs. Patrick Kearney of Gladstone, presented an enjoyable European travelogue program. The evening was completed with refreshments served by hostesses: Mrs. Ron Sundberg, Mrs. Harold Forlund and

Mrs. Roger Brannstrom. L.C.W. members are collecting clothing for the Lutheran World Relief. All collections must be to the parish hall on or before Friday, Nov. 12. All donations will be appreciated for this worthwhile cause.

Bagging Deer Need Not End Hunting Sport

"Can I still go afield with a gun during the firearm deer season after taking a buck or antlerless animal?" "Yes," is the Conservation Department's answer to this question. A hunter with a comp deer license, for example, may still take another animal after shooting his first deer under authority of his regular firearm license. Also, it is legal to hunt predators and certain other small game during the deer season. Hunters toting rifles or shotguns with ball and buck loads for this purpose are required to have small game licenses on them, of course. In addition, they must wear deer license back tags.

THE DEER will keep. The hunter's health may not keep, though, if he persists in putting too much strain on his heart. The Michigan Heart Association says hunters who are not physically fit should get help in doing heavy jobs.

James Granskog On Dean's List

STONINGTON — James Granskog, son of Mr. and Mrs. Iver Granskog of Stonington, was named to the dean's list at Michigan Tech University in Houghton. James distinguished himself scholastically by placing in the upper 2% of his class for the 1964-65 school year. He is a junior at Michigan Tech majoring in forestry. Thirteen juniors obtained the dean list honor, 18 freshmen, 15 sophomores and 13 seniors. James was salutatorian of the 1962 Rapid River High School graduating class.

Special Guests At Pack Meeting

RAPID RIVER—Rapid River Cub Pack 480 had as special guests, Warren Danzer from Escanaba, Red Buck district Scout executive; Emerson Gage, Ford River, district organizational and extension chairman, and Hans Fredson, Stonington Point, district neighborhood chairman, at its Monday evening meeting. The men observed the meeting as a part of a survey of the Scouting program in the Rapid River area.

Cubmaster E. S. Pyke awarded the Cubs with their individual achievements. Five new members were presented: Bobcat pins: Pat Gullickson, Mike Hayes, Don McCullough, Stanley Constantine and Clark Olson. Badge ranks were earned: Wolf, Bill Salley; Bear, Don LaCrosse; Lion, George Anderson. Silver and gold arrows were presented to the three Norlander brothers, Greg, Jeff and Peter and to Joe Bergeron. Greg Anderson accomplished feats of the silver arrow. The pack's next meeting will be a Christmas party, Monday, Dec. 13.

Board of Education Garden Township Schools Garden, Michigan

We have examined the statements of revenues and expenditures of the several funds of GARDEN TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS for the year ended June 30, 1965. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of revenues and expenditures of the several funds present fairly the transactions of the several funds of the GARDEN TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS for the year ended June 30, 1965, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Virginia M. Brickner Wed To Robert Weiks

On Saturday, Nov. 6, at 11:30 a. m., Virginia M. Brickner became the bride of Robert H. Weiks in a ceremony performed at St. Mary's Church in Marathon. The Rev. D. Geisler officiated at the nuptials for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Brickner Sr. of Rte. 2 Marathon. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weiks, 4025A. N. Port Washington Road, Milwaukee, former residents of Rapid River.

Pearls and Sequins

The bride chose for her wedding, a floor length gown of peau de soie trimmed with pearls and sequins. The gown was fashioned with a controllable skirt which formed a detachable train. Her four tiered bouffant veil was held by a fabric headpiece trimmed with pearls and her only jewelry was a gold cross centered with a cultured pearl. Her bouquet was of white orchids and stephanotis.

Her attendants were attired in floor length gowns of velvet and crepe fashioned with bronze velvet bodices and champagne crepe skirts. They were styled in the empire line and featured a long back panel with a velvet border. They carried arrangements of several sized green leaves and bitersweet, centered with a single spider mum. Maid of honor was Gail Brickner, sister of the bride from Marathon and bridesmaids were Vicky Brickner of Marathon and Barbara LeMere, Park Falls. In the role of flower girl was Christie Livermore, Milwaukee and ring bearer was Jerry

Mrs. Robert H. Weiks

Brickner III, of Marathon. Bill Weiks served as best man for his brother and Ray Brickner, Marathon and George Cornell, Milwaukee were groomsmen. Seating the guests were Harold Schoessow and Carl Hanke of Marathon.

Reception

A breakfast was held for the wedding party and immediate members of both families at St. Mary's School in Marathon. A reception for relatives and friends was held at Schmidt's Ballroom followed by a dance.

Following a wedding trip to Northern Michigan the newlyweds are now at home at 5631 N. 94th St., Milwaukee. The bride graduated from Marathon High School and from the Milwaukee Accredited School of Beauty Culture. She is employed at the Betty Klein Beauty Studio in Milwaukee. Mr. Weiks is a graduate of Rapid River High School and is presently employed at the St. Regis Paper Co.

St. George Society Meeting Held Tuesday

BARK RIVER—Mrs. Antone Cavadeas, chairman of the Libraries and Literature Committee presented the program at the meeting of St. George Society held Tuesday evening in the parish hall. She stressed three points: develop the reading habit; read to your children beginning the first and second year; give books and magazines for Christmas gifts.

In other business, curtains for the stage have been donated and Mrs. Stanley Kwarciyan volunteered to sew them together. Mrs. Leonard Veeder will donate material for dish towels.

Mrs. Joseph Grzybowski and Mrs. William LaVigne volunteered to purchase the dishes and kitchen utensils needed for the kitchen.

St. Mary's Circle, with Mrs. James LaVigne as chairman, will have complete charge of the Thanksgiving Clothing Drive. The clothing this year will go to Viet Nam.

Rev. Thomas Dunleavy addressed the group and asked them to subsidize the audio-visual equipment for the catechetical program. The children's talent program will be presented on Saturday, Dec. 18, with lunch to be served after the program by St. Jude Circle with Mrs. Gregg Johnson as chairman. The attendance award went to Mrs. William LaVigne. Lunch was served by members of St. Mary's Circle.

Busy Bakers Meet
The 4-H Busy Bakers cooking club held its first meeting Friday, Nov. 5. The following officers were elected: president Gary Lockhart; vice president, Mike Praznik; secretary, Denise Williams; treasurer, Jimmy Mikulich; reporter, Billy Smith; song leader, Leanne Laurich and recreation leaders, Sharon Johnson and Melanie Davis. The club meets the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month. The next meeting will be held on Nov. 17, at Kay Williams' home. Mrs. Williams is the club leader.

Mrs. Vance Davis is at home after being a medical patient in St. Francis Hospital.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will sponsor a Christmas bazaar at the church Dec. 4.

To vary the flavor of macaroni and cheese, you may want to choose Edam or Gouda cheese instead of the regular cheddar.

Legion Auxiliary

BARK RIVER—At the meeting of the Rheume-Knauf American Legion Auxiliary held Monday evening in the Community Hall, Mrs. Joseph Langlois, rehabilitation chairman, displayed gifts she had purchased for the Veterans Administration Hospital in Iron Mountain. They will be taken to the VA Hospital for Nov. 15. On Dec. 5, a committee will go to the VA Hospital to assist the patients in selecting and wrapping gifts for Christmas. The delegation from the local auxiliary will be Mesdames, Joseph Langlois, John D. Krause, Dan Levesque, and Kenneth Taylor and Betty Olson.

The auxiliary will serve lunch at the Hunter's Ball which the Legion is sponsoring on Saturday, Nov. 20. Mrs. Kenneth Taylor, junior activities chairman, announced their first meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 11, in the Community Hall at 8 p. m. Members of the Auxiliary participated in the Veterans Day program at the Parkside, Thursday, Nov. 11.

The members will sell "Tools for Training" bracelets for the Care program. At the December meeting there will be an exchange of gifts. Each member is asked to bring gifts for the patients at Pinecrest Medicare Facilities in Powers. Leo Knauf and Hector Larson will serve venison burgers for lunch at this meeting.

RIVERSIDE AUTO SALES

2511 Ludington St.

Escanaba, Mich.

MAIN STREET in Rapid River was jammed with automobiles bearing lower Michigan licenses Thursday as the advance patrol of the annual invasion of deer hunters began to arrive for the start of the season Saturday. Activity continued to increase today with bumper-to-bumper traffic reported along U.S. 2 from St. Ignace. (Daily Press Photo)

Redcoated Hunters Invade Rapid River

RAPID RIVER — "Wake up! Wake up! The Redcoats are coming."

That quote may not be exactly early Paul Revere, but certainly fits the situation here.

This little community at the head of Little Bay de Noc began to come alive Thursday for the annual two weeks of boisterousness known officially in Michigan as deer season.

Streams of lower Michigan cars, trucks, campers and station wagons rolled into town Thursday, their headlights pointing the way through the late afternoon mist. The invasion increased in strength last night and was expected to reach huge proportions today and tonight.

Deer season in Upper Peninsula forests opens Saturday.

In Rapid River business establishments and bars, it's already underway.

A bar displayed a picture of a shapely drummer in a striking red dress. "Starts Wednesday, November 10th," the sign said. That was two days ago.

"Welcome Hunters," signs were displayed in every window and Main St. on a Thursday afternoon was already jammed full of cars bearing lower Michigan license plates.

Harry Buchman had nearly 100 hunters registered at his store.

"We'll have 400 or so by Friday night," he said. Buchman estimated that between 1,500 and 2,000 hunters invade the Rapid River area for the first week of the hunt — an influx which more than triples the actual resident population of the village.

A carnival atmosphere prevails. The excitement of that opening day buck and opening night "fellowship with the fellas" is everywhere.

It's literally a business bonanza.

In the din which began to increase in volume Thursday the first of the "buck stories" were making their debuts for the year.

"Shot the tree right down," one fellow said.

"We haven't begun to get the buck stories, yet," said Arnold Wendling of Saginaw County. "Wait until Saturday night. Then you'll hear them."

Arnold and his brothers, Hubert and Bernard, and cousin Harvey Wendling have been hunting in the Rapid River area for eight years. They'll be posted on Stonington Point bright and early Saturday morning.

So will a party of four from Coldwater which loaded a cart full of groceries. "Think that will last us until dinner," Wilson Aikem laughed.

Aiken, Warren Williams, Jess Waldron and Dr. Robert

J. Fraser of Coldwater have been hunting here for 20 years.

"We'll be here a week to 10 days, depending on our success," said Dr. Fraser.

Williams, an avid "big game hunter" who has trophies from as far as Alaska in his trophy room at home, will be looking for a big buck to add to the collection. "We've got a beautiful nine-point rack at camp that I'm going to take back if we have room," he said.

Grover Anderson of Grand Junction, near Paw Paw, stopped to buy a jack knife from Mrs. Rodney Richardson, who runs the store with her husband.

"We've been here six years in the store," Mrs. Richardson said. "Every year the same fellas come back. It's nice to see them again. I've got all my toys out for the hunters," she continued. "A lot of them take something back for the kids for Christmas."

Gas stations and restaurants were doing a land office business as dozens of cars and contraptions stopped for fuel and food. Some hunters were pulling jeeps. Others were driving four-wheel drive wagons.

One car had a motor bike lashed to the radiator. Another sported a balloon-tire "swamp buggy" vehicle riding on the trunk.

Everywhere the red coats, pants and hats of the deer hunters were evident.

So much so that when one Escanaban, who stopped in a city store Thursday and was asked if he was getting ready to go hunting, replied: "Are you crazy? I'm going down in my basement so I won't get hit by bullets. There are more hunters out there than trees."

His attitude was not common, however.

For the majority, deer season starts tomorrow. Hopefully, it will be a safe one.

Grant Permit To Shoot Deer At City Airport

A small herd of deer at the Escanaba Municipal Airport are such a hazard to the safety of air traffic that they are to be removed — unless they stray away of their own accord.

Robert Timmer, Conservation Department district supervisor, said the permit was being issued to permit shooting deer that frequent the airport, which is located on Escanaba's southwest side.

"Safety must come first," he said. "This is not unusual. Three years ago there was a similar situation at Iron Mountain."

Jon Thorin, airport manager, who has been granted the permit, reported the deer are frequently sighted along the runways.

"A week ago Friday I was coming in from Houghton and there were nine deer in one cluster," he said. "I had to sa-shay around and waggle the wings to scare them away before I dared to land."

No one other than the person to whom the special permit, is issued may hunt there, since the airport is within the city limits. The carcass will be turned over to the Conservation Department if a deer is killed.

POWERFUL LEGS

The cassowary, a large, flightless bird confined to New Guinea and nearby islands, can kill a man easily by jumping on him and stabbing him with its powerful legs and toes, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

THE WENDLINGS of Saginaw County paused in their preparations for the hunt Thursday at the Swallow Inn. From left, Arnold, Huber and Bernard Wendling are brothers and

Harvey Wendling, right, is a cousin. On the table is "the eye opener you need for hunting," Arnold said. (Daily Press Photo)

Hermansville

Announce Time Change

Masses to accommodate local and visiting hunters have been announced for St. Mary's Church, Hermansville, and its mission St. Mary's Church, Fathorn by Rev. Fr. Gervase Brewer, pastor.

On Sunday, Nov. 14, and 21, masses will be at 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. E. S. T. at St. Mary's Church, Hermansville and at 11:30 a. m. E. S. T. at St. Mary's Church, Fathorn.

On Sunday, Nov. 28, masses will return to the regular winter schedule which has been in effect since the time change on Oct. 31. Masses at St. Mary's, Hermansville at 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. and at St. Mary's Church, Fathorn at 11:30.

Among early arrivals for the deer season include, Mike Kopeck of Grosse Ile, at the Porky Hill Ranch at Vega; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson of Flint at their cottage on the Vega Road; Harry Williams and Leon Plowman of Detroit at the Williams cottage on the Frenchtown road; Mr. and Mrs. Art Maves with their trailer at Fathorn.

Shriver Speaks At Ft. Custer

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—R. Sargent Shriver, director of President Johnson's war on poverty and the Peace Corps, will be the principal speaker Friday when dedication ceremonies are held at the Ft. Custer Job Corps Center near Battle Creek.

About 700 young men, from 16 to 21 years, are receiving educational and vocational training to prepare them for employment. An estimated 1,500 will be enrolled at the center by early next year.

An open house will be held at the center Friday afternoon after the dedication ceremonies.

The Job Corps Center is operated by the Educational Science Division of U.S. Industries, a private firm, for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Senior Citizens Tour College

The Senior Citizens Committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce were guests of the business administrator, Leo Alperovitz, for a tour of Bay de Noc College Tuesday afternoon.

Alperovitz explained that there was room for further expansion but because of fire regulations, certain parts of the building do not conform to classroom standards.

Refreshments were served in the student center and a committee business was conducted by Chairman John J. Bartella. The committee also agreed to assist the Chamber in promotion of the Escanaba tourist folders.

Representations in an eight-state mid-west area and Michigan community leaders will attend the event Friday.

The following divorce decrees by Judge Bernard H. Davidson in Circuit Court have been filed in the Delta County Clerk's office: Donna M. DeLoughery of Escanaba from Terrance D.; Marilyn Stadlerman of Escanaba from Lawrence.

Marriage license applications have been made at the County Clerk's office by David Joseph Caver, Rte. 1, Escanaba, and Betty Lou Nelson, 309 N. 10th St. and by Ronald George Landstrom, Mounted Rte. Escanaba, and Diane Lynn Hahn, 1600 N. 18th St.

PROPOSED TIME ZONES

In 1883, William Allen proposed a system of standard time. His idea, first accepted by railroads in Canada and the United States, resulted in designating American time zones as Eastern Central, Mountain and Pacific, with the time in each being one hour slower than its predecessor.

Hospitality In Money Exchange Urged In State

The Michigan Tourist Council has requested Michigan merchants to "apply the law of hospitality" when asked to exchange foreign currency.

"With the ever-increasing number of foreign visitors to our state we must be increasingly prepared to deal with problems which arise from attempts to exchange foreign money," said Wesley B. Tebeau, Council chairman.

"The practice of profiting on the exchange of such money is not in the best interest of the state and is not in keeping with our tradition of friendship," he said.

Tebeau, and other tourist industry leaders, pointed out that a telephone call to the nearest bank will generally bring rapid information on correct rates of exchange.

"We are not asking anyone to take a loss on exchange, just to provide the service at no cost to the visitor," he said.

The Tourist Council reminds merchants that Canadian money would fall in the category of foreign exchange, "even though we are so accustomed to traveling back and forth to visit our Canadian friends that most of us don't think of their great land as foreign."

Secret Data Pair Missing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The army is investigating the disappearance of two men who had access to secret information.

A spokesman identified one as CWO Spencer D. Harris Jr., who disappeared in September after delivering secret material to a depot in New York State.

The other was identified as Sgt. IC Glen Roy Rohrer, 44, who served with a military intelligence unit in Germany. He has been missing since August.

Both men were declared deserters after being absent without leave for 30 days.

The spokesman said that Harris was assigned to the 64th Ordnance Company at Pirmasens, West Germany, and disappeared after a courier mission in September to deliver classified material to the Seneca Army Depot at Romulus, N.Y.

Harris' hometown was not immediately known and it could not be confirmed that he was a nuclear technician, as was reported in Europe.

Rohrer, who served in the 513th Military Intelligence Group at Heidelberg, Germany, has been missing since Aug. 16.

From West Allis, Wis., Rohrer entered the Army in 1942 as a reservist, and joined the regular Army in 1949. His decorations included the European-African-Middle Eastern Theater ribbon with three bronze battle stars.

Texas Escaper, 30, Caught In Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—A newlywed Texas prison escapee was captured by Detroit police Thursday and reportedly admitted 40 area burglaries.

Daniel Maddox, 30, who had been serving a 25-year term in Texas for armed robbery, escaped from the Texas State Penitentiary at Huntsville, Tex., July 25.

Police said Maddox married a girl named Kathleen two weeks ago and the two were living at a Detroit address under the name of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Palmer.

The decision was to be made Friday whether to send Maddox back to Texas or have him stand trial here.

Youth Sentenced To Probation On Larceny Charge

Jerry Alan Smith, 17, of Rte. 1, Escanaba, pleaded guilty to a charge of simple larceny when arraigned Thursday before Justice Ross Davis of Gladstone.

He was placed on probation for one year and assessed court costs of $4.30.

State Police said Smith was charged with taking money from coin collection boxes placed on newspaper racks at the Delona and Terrace motels.

John Bergerson, 18, of 217 N. 10th St., pleaded innocent to a simple larceny charge in the same case and was released on $50 bond to await trial.

Troopers said the case is still under investigation and other youths may be involved.

Coach Carl Lemm of Felch has only three lettermen, including one regular, back from the team that turned in a 9-12 record last season. . . . Back in the fold are regular Boyd Dixon and reserves Ken and Curtis Mattson. . . . The Foresters compete in the Big Seven conference and will enter the Holiday Tourney scheduled Dec. 27-29 at the Dickinson County Armory in Kingsford.

A high school sophomore football player who is regarded as a sure college prospect for the future is John Elmer, a 5 foot 11 inch, 235 pound tackle and linebacker at Houghton. . . . "He has started every game here since he was a freshman, is our most aggressive player, fastest line-man and our leading tackler this fall," Coach Juan Mentink stated.

One of the leading candidates for a starting berth on Coach Jack Brighton's Soo Tech team this season is Bill Smith, a freshman from Sault Ste. Marie. . . . Smith earned all-Upper Peninsula and all-state recognition with the Blue Devils last season. . . . Brighton has lost the services of veteran Fred Russin, captain of the Hornets last season, with a back injury that required surgery.

At Houghton, Coach Verdie Cox was impressed with Pete Wickley, former Hancock prep star, who is a freshman candidate for the Michigan Tech varsity squad. . . . The Michigan Tech mentor also complimented Eric Paavilainen, 6 foot 5 inch freshman from Painesdale.

If you're a basketball fan you won't want to miss the Northern Michigan cage scrimmage here Wednesday, Nov. 17. . . . Coach Stan Albeck will send his Wildcats through their paces in a regular practice routine, climaxed by an intrasquad scrimmage. . . . The personable Northern mentor put on an interesting and highly entertaining program with his cagers here last year. . . . The event, free of charge, is sponsored by the Delta County Chapter of the Northern Alumni Club.

Six Veterans Back On Emerald Squad

MANISTIQUE—Coach Rudie Brandstrom has six lettermen, including a pair of lanky veterans, back on his Emerald basketball squad.

Manistique is drilling daily for the Great Lakes Conference season opener against Lapemung. The game will be played here Friday, Nov. 19. . . . Back in action from the team that turned in a 9-8 record last season are Tom Brawley, Jon Cameron, Doug Nelson, Jerry Belleville, Ron Asp and Ernie Haas. All are seniors.

Brawley stands 6 feet 4 inches and was a standout last season with 240 points. Cameron is 6-3 and tossed in 235 points during the regular season last year. Both have been members of the Manistique varsity since their freshman years.

Rounding out the Emerald squad are juniors Bill McKilligan, Dennis White, Larry DeRousha, Dave Barton, Wayne Patz, Jerry Leach and De-

Bobcats Host Ranger Sextet Saturday Night

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The Green Bay Bobcats will face their first "must" game of the infant U.S. Hockey League season here Saturday night when they take on the Marquette Iron Rangers.

Coach John Mayasich said, "We have eight games with Marquette and we'd better win all we can at home because they're always hard to handle on their home ice."

The Iron Rangers, in their first year of competition last year, took the season series from Green Bay 3-2. Saturday night's game will be Marquette's first of the year.

Mayasich said Dick Dougherty, the Bobcats' all-time scoring leader, will start in the wing spot vacated by Hank Therrien, who broke his arm in last week's contest and will be lost at least two months.

Pistons Lose Fourth In Row

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons will try to bounce out of the lonely spot in the cellar of the National Basketball Association's Western Division tonight when they tangle with the division leaders, the San Francisco Warriors.

The best wine could do for the slumping Pistons would be to pull them out of sole possession of last place into a tie with the fourth-place Baltimore Bullets, but it would be a step in the right direction.

The Pistons lost their fourth in a row Wednesday night to the Los Angeles Lakers, 133-125, after leading part of the way.

Tonight Dave DeBussche's boys will take a crack at the Warriors and their sharp-shooting rookie Rick Barry. Barry was the leading college scorer last season and is off to a fast start this year with the pros.

In the Warriors' loss to Philadelphia Wednesday he accounted for 32 points. That was six better than the total put out by Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain.

Unitas May Not Start Against Vikings Sunday

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Baltimore's Gary Cuozzo and Minnesota's Dave Osborn, two youngsters who have yet to leave their mark in the National Football League, may become the most talked about "pain-killers" since Ben-Gay this Sunday when the Colts meet the Vikings in a crucial Western Division clash.

Cuozzo, a pre-dental student with a Phi Beta Kappa Key, is getting ready to fill the shoes of star quarterback Johnny Unitas, who suffered a back injury in the Colts' victory over Chicago last weekend while Osborn, a rookie halfback from North Dakota, is set to sub for the Vikings' ailing Tommy Mason, who injured his right knee.

These two men loom as key figures in Sunday's NFL action which also finds San Francisco at Detroit, Los Angeles at Green Bay, New York at Cleveland, St. Louis at Chicago, Pittsburgh at Dallas and Washington at Philadelphia.

Cuozzo has appeared in 18 games as Unitas' backup during his three NFL campaigns, but he has never been a starter. He has thrown three career TD passes including one last week against Chicago, and the Colts consider him one of the league's best young quarterbacks.

Osborn filled in for Mason last week and gained 49 yards on nine carries including a 21-yard scoring run.

The Colts without Unitas, however, don't figure to be as strong as the Vikings without Mason. The reason lies with Minnesota quarterback Fran Tarkenton who is one of the league's top signal-callers and the major reason the Vikings rank as the league's second highest scoring team.

Unitas may play Sunday, though, and if he does the Colts will rate a slim 2-point choice.

San Francisco, the league's highest scoring team, meets one of the league's top defensive units in Detroit and the Lions are still howling over their upset of Green Bay last weekend. The 49ers have the league's leading passer in John Brodie and the leading pass receiver in Dave Parks, but their defense has yielded 231 points. The Lions' superior defense rates them a 4-point pick.

Green Bay, second in the Western Division, is facing a "must" game against Los Angeles after two successive losses. The Packers will have to bolster their pass protection which faltered in its two losses, but the Rams have lost six in row and are tabbed no better than a 13-point underdog in this one.

Cleveland is a 12-point favorite to upend the Giants and maintain its lead in the Eastern Division. The Browns clobbered the Giants in their first meeting, largely through the efforts of Frank Ryan and Jim Brown, and this duo seems ready to make it four straight over New York.

The Bears and Cards are meeting for the first time since 1959 and Chicago is a 7-point choice to hamper St. Louis' pennant hopes.

Quarterback Rudy Bukich and rookie halfback Gale Sayers are the Bears' big offensive weapons while St. Louis relies on the passing arm of Charley Johnson and the receiving of Sonny Randle and Bobby Joe Conrad.

The Steelers gave St. Louis a battle before losing last weekend, but Dallas impressed also with a victory over San Francisco and the Cowboys are a 7-point choice to win Sunday's contest. Pittsburgh won the first meeting between the two clubs with quarterback Bill Nelsen having his finest day in the NFL. Quarterback Don Meredith and speedy flanker Bob Hayes, however, give the Cowboys an explosive offensive threat.

The Redskins, on the move with three straight victories after losing their first five games, are a 2-point choice to upend Philadelphia. The Skins won the first meeting between the clubs with Sonny Jurgensen outdueling Norman Snead and similar battle between the quarterbacks is expected.

Manager Harry Walker of the Pittsburgh Pirates was traded four times during his major league playing career.

The trotting mare Proximity was bought for $500 after his 3-year old career and went on to win $252,390.

Ellis (Cot) Deal, pitching coach for the New York Yankees, had a 3-4 major league pitching record.

He's lost none of his power, skating ability or enthusiasm," says Red Wing Coach Sid Abel.

"When we change lines, he's the first one over the boards and he's more durable than men 15 years his junior."

The 37-year-old Howe from Floral, Sask., made those words look accurate Thursday night when his fourth goal of the season helped the Red Wings to a 3-3 tie with the New York Rangers. Howe's goal at 19:24 of the second period cut the Rangers' lead to 3-2 and the Red Wings tied the score on a third-period goal by Bruce MacGregor.

The goal was the 599th of Howe's career.

The tie enabled the Rangers to move within three points of the idle second-place Montreal Canadiens and put the Red Wings in a fourth-place tie with the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

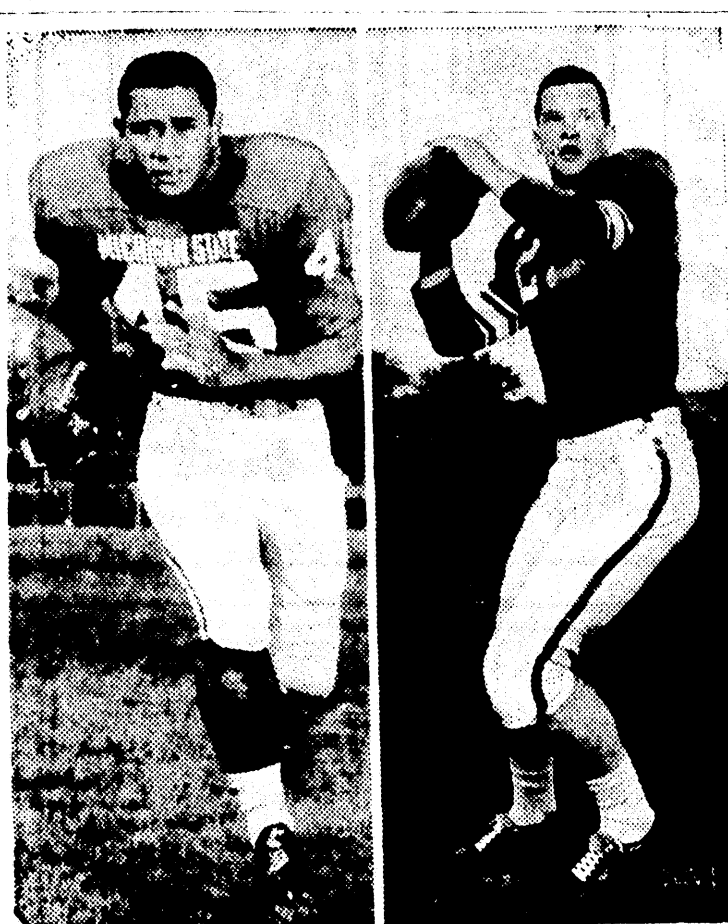

Bob Nevin, Harry Howell and Don Marshall scored for the Rangers.

FIRST LOSS A SHOCKER

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Los Angeles Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres' first defeat of the season was a shocker. The Milwaukee Braves beat him 9-1 but the end actually came on a grand slam home run by Mack Jones in the first inning.

Podres retired the first two batters then Henry Aaron and Joe Torre singled. A wild pitch moved the runners up and with first base open, Podres gave an intentional pass to Gene Oliver.

Then Jones hit Podres' first pitch over the right field wall for four runs.

DUFFY'S DUO — There are many reasons why Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State Spartans are enjoying a fine season, including fullback Bob Apisa, left, and quarterback Steve Juday.

Lord Has Five Letter Winners At Stephenson

STEPHENSON—Coach Guss Frederiksen, Roger Wood and Mickey Raboin.

Other members of last year's varsity team on the squad are Jerry Rasner, Ery Kranberg, Gary Schultz and Wayne Douville, all seniors. Moving up from the junior varsity are juniors Bruce Weng, Wayne Mulzer, Fred Phillips, Keith Picord, Larry Saltz, Ken Kline, Bruce Ives, Paul Halversen and Russ Carlson and sophomores Mark Dougovito, John Gunderson and Guss Lord.

Lord names Bush and Melinger as his starting guards, Frederiksen his center and Kranberg a fullback with Raboin, Weng, Schultz, Wood and Rasner the leading contenders for the other starting assignment.

In changing from the Great Lakes to the Great Northern conference this year, Stephenson has dropped Sault Ste. Marie, Munising, Manistique, Newberry and Ishpeming from its schedule and added Iron Mountain, Kingsford and two games with Norway.

The Stephenson schedule: Nov. 23—Gladstone here Nov. 30—Iron Mountain here Dec. 3—Holy Name here Dec. 10—Marquette there Dec. 14—Menominee here Dec. 17—Escanaba there Jan. 7—Gladstone here Jan. 11—Marquette Cent. there

Four teams took part in the college program under the direction of Jim Henderson, physical education instructor. Special rules were developed for the flag football program in which 60 college students took part.

Rounding out Bay de Noc's fall intramural activities are table tennis, bowling, basketball and skiing programs.

The champions finished with a 3-1 record, followed by Ratfinks with 3-2, Dons 2-2 and Northwoods 0-3.

Spartans Close Big Ten Slate Against Indiana

CHICAGO (UPI)—Michigan State's No. 1 rated football team meets its third straight "pushover" Saturday with Coach Duffy Daugherty guarding against over-confidence with tongue in cheek.

The Spartans face their last big ten rival, Indiana, on the Michigan State field with a chance to become the third team ever to post a perfect record with seven wins in conference competition. Only Ohio State has ever won the title with a 7-0 mark and the Buckeyes did it twice.

"It's a tough job to maintain a proper mental attitude week after week," Daugherty said, "but the Big Ten title means so much and our players are so dedicated that they won't let down."

Want Title

"We're having no difficulty keeping our mind on the game because we want the title and to go undefeated so badly." Last week the Spartans trounced Iowa, winner only once this season, and the previous week manhandled Northwestern, now boasting a 3-5 record. Indiana goes against the Daugherty machine with only two victories in eight games. But last year the Hoosiers defeated Michigan State, and Daugherty hasn't let this fact disappear.

Michigan State was a heavy favorite, four touchdowns, to trample the Hoosiers in the Big Ten's headline game, and remain unbeaten in the National No. 1 spot for the season finale—a playoff clash against Notre Dame, ranked No. 4 nationally.

Irish Favored

The Irish, with a 6-1 record, also were heavy favorites, 27 points, to topple North Carolina on the Notre Dame field and remain among the elite of college football for the Spartan battle.

The Irish have won five straight since their only loss, to

Sugar Ray Quits Ring

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sugar Ray Robinson, whose quest for a sixth world middleweight championship was shattered by Joey Archer Wednesday night, has indicated his desire to quit the ring, a decision that appears final.

Robinson, often called the greatest fighter in the world "pound-for-pound," has "retired" several previous times but his loss to Archer apparently made up his mind for good. The ex-middleweight champ said before the fight he would quit the ring if he lost.

"It looks like he's just decided to quit," George Gainer, Robinson's longtime manager said Thursday night. "He isn't under contract for any further fights and I think he's going into the construction business."

Jersey Jones, the American representative for middleweight tulist Dick Tiger, was unhappy Robinson lost. He explained that "we would have given him a title shot" if he had beaten Archer.

Purdue, while the Tarheels have a 4-4 record.

Ohio State, deadlocked with Minnesota for second place behind the Spartans, was a 13 point choice to extend Iowa's conference losing streak to 12 games and retain its chance to tie for the Big Ten title if the Spartans slip.

Minnesota, though, was a touchdown underdog for its scrap at Purdue with the fourth place Boilermakers, beaten only by the Spartans and Illinois this season.

In other conference games, Michigan was a nine point favorite to whip the Wildcats in its match at Northwestern, and Illinois was an 11 point choice for its game at Wisconsin.

Wolverines Eye 3-3 Record At Big Ten Finish

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The Michigan Wolverines will try to take another step back into the success path Saturday when they travel to Evanston, Ill., to battle the Northwestern Wildcats.

Both teams will be out to even their records at 3-3 and make a respectable finish in the Big Ten race which has been dominated by the No. 1 Michigan State team.

The Wolverines, who staggered to an unhealthy 2-4 record before they could turn 11 individuals into an offensive team, have won their last two games in convincing style under the guidance of senior quarterback Wally Gabler.

Two weeks ago the Wolverines exploded for a 50-14 wallop of an unsuspecting Wisconsin team and just last Saturday they helped Coach Bump Elliott maintain a family jinx over his brother, Pete, by whipping Illinois, 23-3.

The Wolverine team, which takes the field Saturday against Northwestern, if it looks like the Wolverines of the past two weeks, will be a vastly improved squad over the one which opened the season with one mistake after another.

Gabler, after finally winning the quarterback job halfway through the season, has turned the team into more of a running machine rather than depending on the passing game as was attempted earlier.

An option play, with Gabler keeping or passing has become a dangerous weapon, as the Royal Oak senior either scrambles for the yards or tries to hit his favorite target, end Jack Clancy.

Junior halfback Carl Ward has been running brilliantly, with improved protection and openings provided by the enlivened offensive line. The slick stepping back had his best game of the season last week when he rolled up 139 yards on the ground, scored one touchdown on a pass from Gabler and another on a one-yard plunge.

Odds-makers have installed Michigan as a nine-point favorite to whip Northwestern's young and relatively inexperienced team.

Flint Man Held For Threatening To Kill Family

CAROL (UPI) — Charges of assault with intent to commit murder were filed against Henry F. Carr, 23, Flint, Thursday after he held officers at bay and threatened to kill his family.

Authorities said Carr was being held pending $5,000 bond. They said Carr telephoned his father-in-law, Leonard Cotner, Thursday, saying he was enroute to the Cotner home near here and planned to kill the entire Cotner family including his estranged wife, Karen.

Cotner called the Tuscola County sheriff's office and deputies were dispatched to the scene. They waited until Carr arrived with a rifle and then dashed into the house and called for help.

Additional deputies arrived on the scene and flushed Carr out of some nearby bushes.

Carnival Man Recalls First Paved Midway

William Pastelwaite of Detroit, former owner of the World of Pleasure Shows, was in Manistique Thursday on a booking trip, and recalled playing at the U. P. State Fair in Escanaba "the first time it was on pavement."

Pastelwaite, who recently sold his Deluxe Rides, is working for Big City Shows and Hippodrome Circus of Walt King, manufacturer of ride equipment.

When his World of Pleasure show played the U. P. Fair, Pastelwaite was directed to a rain-soaked site near the Midway. He insisted on using the paved area of the Midway and was given permission to place his rides alongside the paved area. It was about 1942.

Card of Thanks

MacKenzie
We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors, friends and relatives for the assistance and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lettie MacKenzie. We are especially grateful to those who sent flowers, cards and gifts, those who offered cars for the service, the Rev. Clifford DeVore, the women of Memorial Methodist Church, Mrs. Eva Brown, who helped us so much, and all who by word or deed assisted us at this time. The memory of these acts will always remain with us.
The Family of
Mrs. Lettie MacKenzie

Kintziger

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives who by their acts of kindness in the recent illness and death of our husband and father, helped to lighten our burden of sorrow. Especially do we thank Rev. Father Mayrand, for his comforting words, the pallbearers, those who loaned cars and the many friends who sent floral and spiritual bouquets. We thank you all.
The Family of
John Kintziger

Lethal Chlorine Barge Raised

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Salvage crews today were raising with a huge derrick 600 tons of potentially lethal chlorine that went to the bottom of the Mississippi River on a barge during Hurricane Betsy two months ago. Hundreds of residents were evacuated or left voluntarily as a precaution.

The Coast Guard stopped all river traffic above and below the lift site. Authorities had told the 164,000 residents of Baton Rouge that there was little danger of the four tanks of chlorine breaking and releasing a cloud of chlorine gas.

The U.S. engineers expected it to take at least eight hours to get the barge all the way to the surface.

Briefly Told

The Promenaders Square Dance Club will hold a dance at Bay De Noc Community College from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. Saturday. The caller will be Steve Baltic.

Claude Tobin accompanied Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley back to Lansing today to attend a dedication at 3 p. m. of John F. Kennedy House at 900 W. Michigan Ave. Lansing, the new Michigan State Democratic Party headquarters, by U. S. Senator Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.). The brother of the late President is also to address a party dinner in Ann Arbor tonight.

Home Repair Racket Nipped, Kelley Declares

Escanaba Kiwanis Club honored Ernest G. Bennett at a ladies night dinner at Marco's Thursday evening which was highlighted by an address by Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley on the state's new curbs on consumer frauds.

Luther Barrett was master of ceremonies and President John A. Brien presented a Legion of Honor certificate to Bennett for 40 years of Kiwanis service.

Bennett reviewed Kiwanis' 43 years of aid to the community in support of the Kiwanis Boys Band, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Bay Cliff Health Camp, the school for the retarded, the oral deaf room of the public schools, clothing and shoes for needy children and other charities.

Two humorous sketches, "Kiwanis of the Future" by Kryn Bloom, Dr. William Hemmes and Don Wertz, and "If Men Played Cards as Ladies Do" by Rev. Stephen Mayrand, John O'Brien, Rene Labre and Walter Lewke, and a musical program entertained the Kiwanians and their ladies. James Gibson sang two solos, accompanied by Arol Beck, and a quartet of Beck, Gibson, Barrett and Edward McCarthy sang a group of numbers.

New State Laws Attorney General Kelley, making a tour of the Upper Peninsula to explain new legislation, told the Kiwanians that no claims can be made against the new Michigan uninsured driver accident fund until after Jan. 1, 1966. Accidents before that date are not eligible for coverage.

Some drivers, said Kelley, think that when they pay the new curbs on consumer frauds, $35 fee to get their 1966 auto license plates that they are insured. They are not only not insured, he said, but the act lets them in for more responsibility than under the old law.

"If the state has got to pay for your accident," said Kelley "we take away your driver license and auto license until you indemnify us."

Frauds Clobbered The new act protects the victim of the uninsured driver, but requires the uninsured driver to reimburse the state for payments to his victims.

The attorney general and the courts will set the rates at which uninsured drivers must reimburse the state, said Kelley. It hasn't been done yet, but it will have to be done, because people who can't afford insurance obviously can't afford to pay a large claim in a lump sum.

The 1965 session of the Michigan Legislature cracked down hard on consumer frauds.

Charitable solicitation is now under control of the attorney general and he has the toughest charity law in the nation to work with. "We can check the books of the charities now," said Kelley.

Home Repair Racket The home repair racket is on the way out in Michigan, Kelley believes, under the new legislation and it has preyed heavily on householders of the state for unethical furnace, roofing, siding and other home repair sales.

Under new Michigan law it is a crime to draw a contract in blank. The contract must state all its terms under House Bill 2360 passed by both houses of the Legislature without a dissenting vote.

It limits financial inducements to $250.

Cancellation Clause The home owner may cancel the contract for repairs up to 5 p. m. of the day following signing with only oral notice to the business involved and the contract must state the business' office address or it is no contract.

The act provides penalties of $500 fine and 90 days in jail for the first offense and $1,000 and one year for successive offenses.

Pennsylvania has had such an act for a few years and it has practically no home improvement rackets, any more, said Kelley. "There is more of this fraud outstate than in the big cities because the populous counties have licensing of contractors. All counties can license their contractors."

World's longest and deepest undersea telephone cable links the United States mainland to Hawaii.

Youth In Bars Debated; Law May Be Changed

Escanaba's Mayor George W. Rusch has promised that within two weeks the City Council will have an answer to one of the most controversial questions to come before the Council in years.

The assurance that a decision will be made by the Council within two weeks concluded a hearing in the City Hall Thursday night that was marked by emotionalism, controversy, and occasional shouting.

The topic under discussion was whether the city should hold to its recent ordinance prohibiting the presence of minors in bars unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

State law permits the presence in bars of minors 18, 19 and 20 if they are accompanied by parent or guardian.

The city ordinance, adopted a couple months ago, prohibits the presence in bars of all minors — all persons under 21 — unless they are with parent or guardian.

Age Only Change The tavernkeepers of Escanaba told the Council in no uncertain terms that they feel they are being discriminated against, that they are losing business because of the new ordinance, and they want it repealed or amended.

Law enforcement officers were concerned in their statements that the ordinance provides them an instrument by which they can effectively police the bars and prevent minors from consuming. They said they thought the barkeepers should welcome such a law because it also protects them by keeping minors of non-drinking age out of the bars.

It was emphasized and re-emphasized that the only change in the city ordinance from the state law is to boost upward the age limit from 18 to 21.

Townships Next? That 18, 19 and 20-year age group, however, represents the young people who are likely to accompany the 21-year-old into the tavern for a social evening. If there is one person under 21 in the group he must leave. This usually means the whole group departs, said the tavernkeepers.

Ed Gosselin, Louis LaCrosse and other representatives of the barkeepers declared they are losing money hand over fist because the groups that include young people are frequenting the bars just outside the city limits.

In the townships the state law with its lower age limit is in effect.

The Rev. Walfred Nelson and the Rev. Everett L. Wilson of Escanaba, the latter president of the Delta County Ministerial Association, spoke in support of the city ordinance. They said the issue was one of morality and not of money.

Rev. Wilson said the Ministerial Association will consider the need to extend provisions similar to the city ordinance into the townships. This would require action by the individual township boards.

Law Enforcement Durrell Benay, a teacher, spoke on behalf of parents and teachers in support of the city ordinance and submitted petitions bearing a large number of signatures.

Mayor George Rusch conducted the meeting which was attended by Councilmen Harold Vanlerberghe and H. George Nelson.

Councilman Nelson said that when the ordinance was adopted he was under the impression that a legal guardian "was any older person" and that he now favors amendment of the ordinance. Councilman Vanlerberghe said only that he was there "as an observer."

Law Enforcement was represented by Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas P. Chapekis, Police

Chamber Studies Airport Issues

Directors of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce Thursday referred the airport tax issue to be voted by Delta County Dec. 6 to the Chamber Affairs Committee for study and recommendation. A tax of 2 mills for one year for airport improvement is proposed and a yes vote would be considered by the Escanaba Board of Supervisors as a directive for the county to take over the city-owned airport.

The Airport Study Committee, John Anthony, chairman, recommended to the Delta County Board of Supervisors that the county take over the operation and ownership of the Escanaba airport. The directors will consider the recommendation of the Civic Affairs Committee at a special meeting before the election and make a recommendation to the public.

New members accepted into the Chamber Thursday were Boyce Funeral Home, Dr. M. H. Garrard, Bel-Air Campers, Management Science, and Goodman Division, Calumet & Hecla, Inc.

President Forrest Henslee advised the Board that letters had been sent to the Site Selection Committee of the Michigan Education Association reaffirming the bid and desire to hold the U. P. teachers convention in 1966 in Escanaba.

Chamber Manager Walter Lewke reported that the Convention and Greeters Committee, Claude J. Tobin, had extended an invitation to the National Holiday Rambler Encampment to meet in Escanaba in July of 1966. This would bring an estimated 800 to 900 trailers with about 3,000 people to Escanaba.

Lewke reported that Col. Pete C. Sianis, 410 Bomb Wing Commander, Col. Samuel F. Dyke, commander, 46 Air Refueling Squadron, and Lt. Col. Myron Piggett, director of personnel, all of K. I. Sawyer AFB, and their wives, will be guests of the Chamber on the K. I. Sawyer Day program, Saturday, Nov. 20. The Senior Citizens Committee of the Chamber will act as hosts at the noon luncheon.

Lewke reported that commitments for the advertising insert of the Escanaba tourist folder were almost complete and that the Escanaba and Delta County folders would be ready for distribution at the 1966 travel shows.

Find Body Of 'Clancy' Sayen, Airline Pilot

Funeral services for Clarence L. "Clancy" Sayen of Seattle, Wash., formerly of Rock, were held in Chicago Thursday and attended by relatives from Delta County.

Mr. Sayen was one of 30 persons who were victims in a Lake Michigan airline disaster in August. He was at one time head of the Air Line Pilots Association of more than 19,000 members.

His body and that of many others was recovered from the plane when it was located on the bottom of Lake Michigan near Chicago earlier this week. The bodies were removed on Wednesday.

Memorial services for Mr. Sayen were held on Thursday and among those attending were his mother, Mrs. Pauline Sayen of Rock and a niece, Mrs. David Koskinen also of Rock. Other survivors include a brother, Arnold, of Rock.
